

Alan Taylor
Chief Financial Officer
alan.taylor@liw3.com

Alan joined LIW in 2008 to provide his financial and strategic expertise to the organization. He has significant experience, holding senior finance leadership roles for both Kellogg and Campbell Soup/Arnotts Biscuits. At both corporate and regional levels, Alan's focus as the Finance Director was to deliver a value-added, partnering role with the Chief Executive.

Alan has international experience having "worked the globe" as a senior financial executive. He worked with Kellogg for 17 years in Canada, Asia Pacific and the USA, where he was a Corporate Officer. During his role as Regional Finance Director for Asia Pacific he had oversight for both mature and developing markets as well as starting up new businesses in both China and India. Joining Campbell Soup/Arnotts Biscuits in 1999 he also held a Regional Finance Director role during which time he led a major Australian acquisition and integration. For both Kellogg and Campbell Soup he sat on the Global Finance Steering Committees.

Throughout his career Alan has been respected amongst his peers as a leader who cares for his team, taking a strong interest in their individual development.

Prior to joining LIW, Alan worked in private equity and consulted with small businesses.

At LIW Alan has a dual role of in-house CFO and a support role to our clients as coach and adviser on strategic and financial issues.

Mini bio

- Alan specialises in improving the strategic and financial focus of organisations utilising his FMCG international experience at a senior financial level.

Qualifications

- Bachelor of Arts (Honours), University of Nottingham;
CPA, Connecticut USA; Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England & Wales